The Venetian Room Receives AAA Four Diamond Rating for Eleventh Consecutive Year

January 23, 2015 (ORLANDO, FL) – The American Automobile Association (AAA) recently announced that The Venetian Room restaurant, located inside the Caribe Royale hotel, is the recipient of the prestigious Four Diamond Award for the eleventh consecutive year. Only ten restaurants received this designation for 2015 in the greater Orlando area, including Lake Buena Vista and Winter Park.

According to www.aaa.com, the AAA Diamond Rating Process is North America's premier restaurant rating program. Restaurants do not pay to become AAA Approved and Diamond Rated. Unlike other ratings programs, AAA does not rate restaurants on a system of Poor to Excellent. AAA only rates those restaurants Approved for quality. Approved restaurants can earn from One Diamond to Five Diamonds, with a Four Diamond establishment being geared to individuals in search of a distinctive, fine-dining experience. According to AAA, Four Diamond Rated restaurants offer menus reflecting a high degree of creativity and complexity, using imaginative presentations to enhance high quality. A complete list of restaurants and hotels which received Diamond ratings can be found at <http://newsroom.aaa.com/diamond-ratings/>.

The Venetian Room opened in 2002 and has consistently garnered awards for its cuisine and service, including the Zagat rating. Most recently, it was named "Best Service" and "Best Wine List" in Orlando Magazine's 2014 Reader's Choice Awards and Orlando's best "Hotel Restaurant" in the 2014 Orlando Magazine Annual Dining Awards. Florida Trend Magazine also awarded the restaurant its 2014 Golden Spoon Award for the fifth straight year.
